Competition

The Competition Series is Xtreme's line designed for serious mountain riders who like to test the limits of mountain bike strength, versatility and responsiveness. If this sounds familiar, then we've spent time developing, designing and testing these bikes just for you. Many of these bikes are being used by top riders in the World Racing series, in addition to our own team of elite racers. Whatever you desire in a performance mountain bike, we can deliver with one of our Competition bikes.

Mountain

The Mountain Series of Xtreme bikes are designed to handle assaults on both the mountains and the streets. All bikes have 21 speed versatility, tested frame geometry and components that will enhance any off-road experience. We've increased the strength and decreased the weight of the bikes by including more alloy components and testing all the frames with our in house racers. This guarantees you low maintenance so you'll spend the time putting miles on your bike rather than sitting around when it's in the repair shop.
